Robertson Express

The smartest way to get from Duke to UNC

The Robertson Express (RSX) aims to facilitate collaboration between Duke University and UNC Chapel Hill. Though they are bitter rivals on the court, the Blue Devils and the Tar Heels can learn a lot from each other thanks to unique educational, cultural, and social opportunities available to members of both campus communities.

While free for Robertson Scholar, Duke University, and UNC Chapel Hill GoPass holders, the one-way fare for the general public is $2.50.

Riders without GoPasses may purchase a Regional Express Day Pass for $5 or a 31-Day Regional Express pass for $85. Both passes are good for unlimited rides on the day or dates designated. Those 65 or older and 12 or younger ride for free. Disabled riders pay 1/2 price fare with ID.

The RSX departs from and arrives at the Duke Chapel bus stop. At UNC, buses depart from and arrive at the Morehead Planetarium parking lot. No stops are made between Duke and UNC, and each one-way trip is scheduled to last 30 minutes, including a two-minute turnaround at both stops.

The RSX runs each year from late August to early May, with reduced service on weekends and on designated school days. No service is offered during university recesses and holidays.

Note: On weekdays when only one campus is in session (or when classes do not meet), buses will depart hourly from each campus; from Duke on the half-hour (XX:30) and from UNC-CH on the hour (XX:00).
